INTERNATIONAL EDUCATION WEEK
2018 SPEAKER SERIES

NOV 15 7:00 P.M.
When Deportation is a Death Sentence
Lecture by Sarah Stillman
Hixson-Lied Auditorium, Harper Center
Sarah Stillman is a staff writer for The New Yorker magazine, where she published the essay “When Deportation is a Death Sentence.” Her long-form journalism focuses on social injustices. She is a MacArthur Fellow and is the director of the Global Migration Project at Columbia University Graduate School of Journalism.

NOV 17
Immigration Education Day
8:30 A.M. to 12:30 P.M.
Keynote: Aviva "Avi" Chomsky Undocumented: How Immigration Became Illegal followed by a discussion panel, personal stories, and action opportunities.
Skutt Student Center Ballroom (light breakfast available at 8 am)
Avi Chomsky is Professor of History and Coordinator of Latin American, Latino, and Caribbean Studies at Salem State University. She is the author of They Take Our Jobs! and Twenty Other Myths about Immigration and Undocumented: How Immigration Became Illegal.

Lead Panelist: Joanna Williams Kino Border Initiative Director of Education and Advocacy.
Panelists: Jennifer Reed-Bouley, College of St. Mary Theology Program Director; M. Guadalupe Sánchez Salazar, Consul of Mexico; and Shane Ellison, Immigrant and Refugee Clinic Director.

JOINTLY SPONSORED BY
Creighton University Groups
Creighton Global Initiative
American Studies Program
Classical and Near Eastern Studies Program
Department of Cultural and Social Studies
Department of Modern Languages and Literatures
Global Engagement Office
Graduate Program in Medical Anthropology
Jacobson Chair in Communications
John C. Kenefick Faculty Chair in the Humanities
Latin American Studies
Office of the Vice Provost for Mission & Ministry
Schlegel Center for Service and Justice
University Committee on Lectures, Films & Concerts

Community Organizations
Immigrant Legal Center
Omaha Area Sanctuary Network
The Great Plains United Methodist Peace with Justice Program

ALL EVENTS ARE FREE AND OPEN TO THE PUBLIC