

JUSTICE WITHOUT A DOUBT.

The Kansas Coalition Against the Death Penalty has one singular purpose: abolition of the death penalty.

Membership:

- We have individual members as well as organizations who are in our coalition.
- There are murder victim family members, attorneys, religious leaders, corrections professionals, and many other demographics in our membership.
- Our members are politically, religiously and geographically diverse. They have practical and moral reasons for wanting to end the death penalty.
- Members receive our monthly newsletter, action alerts and special events notices.

There is no fee to join the coalition. Persons wishing to join KCADP may sign up by clicking here.

About our presenter today: Meryl Carver-Allmond

Meryl Carver-Allmond is a capital appellate defender.

A 2005 University of Kansas School of Law graduate, she began her career as a research attorney for the Hon. Gary Rulon, former Chief Judge of the Kansas Court of Appeals. After four years with the Appellate Defender Office, she transitioned to capital defense in 2012. \\

There she has had the honor of representing clients charged with the most serious crimes in both the Kansas Supreme Court, and — as a member of the defense teams for Kansas v. Carr and Gleason, and Kahler v. Kansas — at the United States Supreme Court.

Meryl has been a board member of KCADP since 2019. She lives in Lawrence with her family.
